

Sermon Notes

God's Heart for Children

MARK 10:13-16

Overview

Children's ministry isn't a way we support mission; it is mission. If we are to be "a community of disciple-makers toward the great commission," that great commission ministry of disciple-making starts with our own families, within our own community. It means the church partnering with parents as we all seek to love children and help them come to Jesus.

Outline

Jesus loves children and wants them to come to him.

We should love children and help them come to him.

Jesus upholds children as models of faith and how to come to him.

We can learn from children how to love and follow Jesus.

Reflection Questions

1. How would you describe God's heart for children?
2. How would you describe your own heart for children?
3. What are some ways you can value and bless children?
4. How are children models of faith and how to come to Jesus?
5. What are some ways God has blessed you through children?
